Protects and cleans data on your PC from spyware, adware, keystroke loggers, viruses and worms. Hides tracking data, removes cookies, erases browsing history, browser plugins, toolbars, and enables spam protection. Blocks browser pop-ups, removes search ads, enhances the browsing speed of Internet Explorer, Office, and other programs. Protects your PC against worms and helps you hide tracking data. All in One SECRETMAKER 2007 is a third-party program. This invention relates to power saving circuits. More particularly, it relates to power saving circuits which reduce power consumption by reducing the power that is supplied to light emitting devices. Light emitting diodes are typically implemented as light sources in a wide variety of products. As a result, there is a need for reducing power consumption of the light emitting diodes. FIG. 1 is a block diagram illustrating a conventional embodiment of a power saving circuit 10. Power saving circuit 10 includes a plurality of light emitting devices 12a-c coupled to an input voltage VIN that is a positive voltage and a reduced voltage VIN R that is between 0 and VIN. Power saving circuit 10 includes a switch 14 that is responsive to a first control signal C1 to couple one of light emitting devices 12a-c to an output node 16. Thus, when one of light emitting devices 12a-c is driven by switch 14, the other light emitting devices are not driven. Switch 14 may be implemented as a transistor or as a field effect transistor. Light emitting devices 12a-c may include light emitting diodes or the like. Power saving circuit 10 includes a second switch 18 that is responsive to a second control signal C2 to couple a second light emitting device to output node 16. Thus, when switch 14 is off, switch 18 is turned on. Second switch 18 may be implemented as a transistor or as a field effect transistor. Power saving circuit 10 includes a voltage supply 20. Voltage supply 20 provides reduced voltage VIN R. Voltage supply 20 may also provide a reference voltage. Voltage supply 20 may be turned off when input voltage VIN is greater than a threshold voltage of voltage supply 20. Voltage supply 20 is turned on when input voltage VIN is below the threshold voltage. This reduction of power supply voltage may be very important to save power in some applications. The reduction of power supply voltage for power saving circuit 10 may be achieved by either an active circuit technique or a passive technique. One of the
